THE GLOBE AND MAIL

Canada's defence and security sector is entering a new era, defined by advancements in technology, sustainability, and strategic partnerships. Strategically timed alongside the CANSEC 2025 conference, this special feature will explore how these innovations are strengthening Canada's capabilities across land, air, and sea, while addressing critical challenges and shaping the future of national security

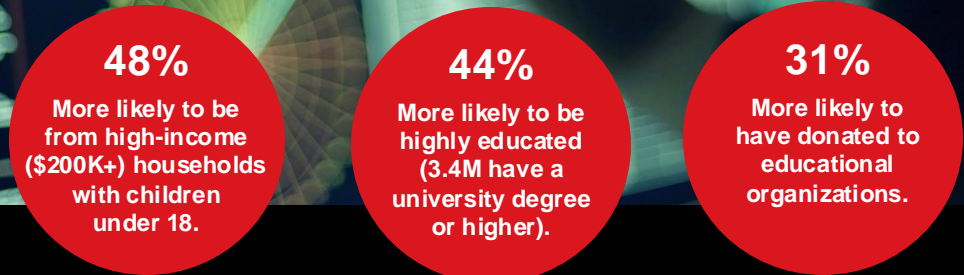

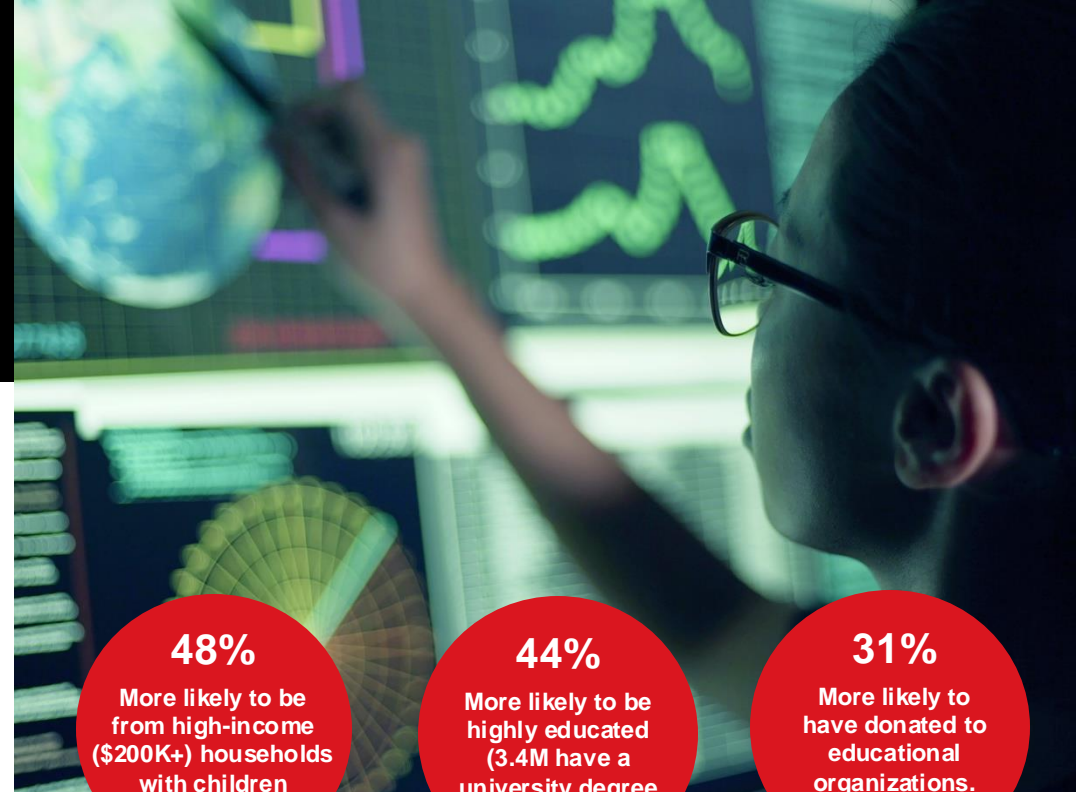

Proposed topic highlights:

- Edge Defence Technology: Unveiling advancements in cybersecurity, naval engineering, and AI-driven systems.
- Sustainability in Defence: Highlighting green initiatives and eco-friendly solutions across all sectors of defence, including maritime.
- Supply Chain Resilience: Addressing challenges and solutions for critical supply chains in defence manufacturing.
- International Collaboration: Exploring partnerships driving innovation in land, air, and sea defence systems.
- Future Security Trends: Insights into emerging threats and opportunities across the global defence landscape
