CORENET

Canadian Chapter Driven by innovation and shifting workforce needs, commercial real estate is evolving to meet new demands in function, flexibility, and sustainability. This special feature, developed in partnership with CoreNet Canada and timed to align with the 2025 Global Summit, will explore how forwardthinking organizations are designing, leasing, and managing space to meet the demands of modern business—from urban hubs to warehousing and logistics.

Proposed topic highlights:

Sustainable Space Planning – How ESG goals are reshaping office design, leasing decisions, and energy use. The Role of CRE Professionals – How corporate real estate professionals are guiding companies in defining the future of work and aligning space decisions with strategic goals. Industrial Innovation – Spotlight on warehousing, fulfillment, and the tech transforming logistics real estate. Urban Commercial Real Estate – Revitalization, density, and the evolution of commercial property in major Canadian cities. Real Estate as Strategy – How corporations are integrating CRE into long-term business and talent planning.
